ABOUT GOLDENGEN

Geneviève Dumas (Goldengen) is a Montreal-based painter, printmaker, collage and silk-screen artist.

Dumas received her formal art's training in Quebec and France. She abandoned her arts career and went into private practice in marketing and advertising.

Since returning full-time to her art practice in 2019, Dumas has been exhibiting in shows and numerous global publications and magazines for the last few years.

Dumas' work invokes a nostalgia of softness and femininity that we do not see often in contemporary art. While creating a new visual experience for the viewer, it subtly nudges at familiar internal questions of love, self-love and memory. Her work offers an investigation of unexpected representations that result from the combination of fragmented materials that provoke disjointed feelings. Through collage and silk screen, it is about the layering and building of momentum and stories.

The characters in Dumas' individual pieces are used frequently as she weaves a continuing narrative throughout her entire body of work...they have a place, a history and a story that has yet to be told.

The final result is a tender yet, eye-catching work of art that is captivating and elegant.
