NIGEL NOLAN RECENT PAINTINGS

For every flower I've received - for loss, for celebration, for hope, for tragedy, for love. I take a bucket of water, wash them from my memories and pour them into these paintings

Nigel Nolan

Nigel Nolan is a multidisciplinary artist who has exhibited internationally. Nolan has held solo exhibitions in Toronto, Buenos Aires and New York. His portfolio of project-based work includes book projects, performances, large-scale painted installations and experimental videos. Nolan's paintings have been used for large-scale mural work, brand activations, private and public installations and global exhibitions.

The background is a vibrant, abstract composition of pink and purple hues. It features broad, expressive brushstrokes and thin, delicate lines that create a sense of movement and depth. On the left side, there are dark, stylized floral or leaf-like shapes. Faint, cursive text is visible in the background, including the words "love" and "thank you".
